CHAMPIONS.

Cloverport Ball Club Beate the Hardinsburg Boys Again and Wins the Series.

The Cloverport ball club went to Hardinsburg again last Friday and won another game from the boys of the county seat.

At times the game was interesting and well played, but so before, Cloverport got such a boost at the start that the Hardinsburg boys never had any hope of winning. Henry O'Brien did the pitching for Cloverport, and Hardinsburg just simply can't hit him. As usual, our boys pounded the life out of the ball and kept it flying into the field at pleasure.

At the close of the second inning the game stood 12 to 1 in favor of Cloverport in the third Hardinsburg made a little slip and scored six runs, Cloverport making three. The remainder of the game was interesting and was marked by some mistakes on both sides, but more especially was this the case on the part of Hardinsburg. For four straight innings Cloverport was unable to score anything, but they were splendid batting. In the mean time Hardinsburg was gaining one at a time, but she had already lost the game.

Following is the score by innings:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Hardinsburg—1 0 0 1 1 0 1 2 3
Cloverport—4 3 0 0 0 0 3 2 0

WE MUST WORK.

Our Bullitt County Correspondent Impresses This Upon the Murray Men

And Tells How Montgomery Has Decisively Used the Appointing Power.

LET US HUSTLE.

SPRINGFIELD, Ky., July 20, 1894.—To THE NEWS.—For two weeks or more the various county papers in this district have been copying, and articles of a very eulogistic character from the east em press, setting forth in racy language the many virtues of statehood, performed by Mr. Montgomery, the hewen Congressman from the Fourth Kentucky District. Let us look, if you please at his official acts at home, and see what a gigantic, political magician has really done to endow himself to the people. First, we will take the post-office at this place. Let some of his inspired champions explain why he promoted the office to two of our best men, G. W. Marnan, of the firm of Marnan Bros., went to Elizabethtown to see Mr. Montgomery and was promised the office, when Mr. Montgomery knew that by his own personal recommendation another man had been or was about to be appointed. Is this official integrity?

In the second place, he secured the appointment of Ben Johnson, the most objectionable man applying for the place. His every act has been detrimental to the interest of his party. His vote for Crisp was an insult to the district, and what excuse will the gentleman offer the people for his inactivity in Congress, when factories and mills were closing and hard times stared the workmen in the face? Like the large majority of the members of this weak-necked Congress, will he say he did his best? Do the records show that he urged immediate action and warned the party that delay was dangerous? Did he use his great talent to secure an early passage of the Wilson bill? Did he do anything? Mr. Montgomery is a great statesman about election time, according to some of his eastern clippings, the greatest record. No one can blame him for staying in Washington, for while he can make some admirable explanations, the people have some hard questions to ask him, and it is so much easier to stay away.

Quite recently twenty-four Republican storekeepers were reappointed, no doubt at the suggestion of Mr. Montgomery. There are no fewer than fifty good applicants right here in Bullitt who have been promised places, but instead of appointing men who have worked for the party and fought for it, instead of keeping their promises and rewarding life-long party service, Montgomery, Johnson & Co., for political effect have seen cause to go to the money's camp for men to hold paying positions under our Democratic collector.

The cry that Murray's followers are disappointed office-seekers is a falsehood. Your correspondent never was an applicant and never expects to be under Mr. Johnson. The sturdy farmer is following Mr. Murray, so is the laborer, and a majority of our merchants, lawyers and doctors. He is gaining ground every day, and Montgomery's friends see the handwriting on the wall. Mr. Montgomery never has his eye on Cloverport again. The people know him too well and want a change. The free-born, liberty loving voters of this grand old county will never sell their votes.

Patriotism, manly deeds, mental ability and conscientious party service will buy our votes. Nothing more, nothing less, no more issue of the News and the ballot box on us. We want true-hearted soldiers to help us hurl back the tide, buying un-democratic gain. Let every man come out and vote for Murray. We will send every vote.

Also—Will the people be forgiving, Will they give me back my living, Will they give me back to Congress, As they did of yore, If I live my own honest life, If I give you honest service, (Giveth the people—Never more.) J. R. Z.

IT IS FALSE.

Caril Richardson is Not an A. P. A. As Has been Reported by His Political Enemies.

Union Star, Ky., July 23rd, 1894.—To the people of Breckenridge county: As the report has been circulated that I am a member of a certain organization known as the A. P. A., it seems necessary to me to make a public declaration.

I wish to state that I am not now a member of such organization, nor have I ever been, and all reports to the contrary are absolutely false. They are put into circulation and kept going by my political enemies, the reason of which is obvious to all fair-minded citizens.

Furthermore, I wish to state that if the published and generally accepted reports of the object and workings of said order be true (all of which I personally, by my own knowledge, know nothing about), I am not in sympathy with such organization, believing it to be un-democratic and foreign to the teachings of American citizenship.

I believe in the A. P. A. in both political and religious history.

Respectfully yours,
J. R. Z.

WARNING UP.

Breckenridge County, is Getting Stirred Up Over the Congressional Race.

The Congressional race is warming up in this county. The people of grand old Breckenridge county are getting aroused, and affairs just now are approaching a fever heat. Up to this time there has been but little stir among the people here, because it is so unexciting, but the day for the primary approaches the people are getting more enthused.

There has been a Murray club formed in Cloverport which now numbers more than three hundred members and is still growing. The first meeting at which the organization was perfected was last Friday night, the 23rd inst. John D. Habbage was made Chairman of the club with Clayton Croson, Secretary, and the following persons compose the Ways and Means Committee: Thos. Wroe, C. E. Lightfoot, J. A. Barry, Jas. Hamilton and F. J. Ferry.

The second meeting was held Monday night and it was a rouser. Brase hands paraded the streets, speeches were made by prominent Democrats of the county and the crowd cheered to the echo of Murray's name. This same enthusiasm is spreading all over the county, and the county will give him David R. Murray the largest majority that ever was obtained by any man. The sentiment of the people in this county is practically one way and the vote of the county will be practically solid for Murray.

The only danger that has ever threatened Mr. Murray in this county was the inactivity or indifference of his friends, there not being enough opposition here to arouse them, but the demonstration here in Cloverport last Monday night shows that every man has been giving the matter more thought and attention than was suspected. They will all get to the polls on the 4th of August.

WITH A HOE.

James Barnett, a Road Hand, Came Near Killing David Ewan, The Overseer.

The Haverhill Chorus says: "Monday evening two miles east of Pellville David Ewan received a lick from a hoe in the hands of James Barnett that came near killing him. Ewan is overseer on the road and Barnett is a road hand. They were out with the other hands at work on the road and Barnett had his eyes open glowing. He plowed a ditch in the center of the road and Ewan told him to make the ditch in another direction so that it would convey the water to a main branch. Barnett replied, 'I will take the ditch in the center of the road, and he did so, his residence being near by. He returned in a few minutes with a hoe and began working with the other hands. Ewan came round in a few minutes and said to Barnett that the ditch he was working in was deep enough and that needing dirt on the other side of the road he would work there. Barnett remarked that he had been hoaxed as much as he intended to, and as Ewan passed he struck him in the back of the head with the hoe and he fell senseless, remaining so for some time. Barnett immediately made his escape and it is believed that he crossed the river here early in the night, making his way to Indiana, where he formerly lived eight or ten years ago. Warrants were issued, but of course were not executed. The condition of Ewan was thought at first to be very dangerous, but now he is getting along well and will likely recover. Barnett is considered a worthless fellow, and is known to have treated his wife very badly. He never worked hard, but made his wife and boys, whom he left at home, carry the burden."
